NEWPORT,

BY CLEANTON & NORMAN,

127 THAMES STREET.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, OCT. 26.

ELECTION TUESDAY, NOV. 2.

Whig National Nominations

FOR PRESIDENT,
WINFIELD SCOTT,
OF NEW JERSEY.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT,
WILLIAM A. GRAHAM,
OF SOUTH CAROLINA.

Elector

ELIJAH MARSH, of Coventry.
ISAAC P. HAZARD, of Newport.
ANDREW SMITH, of Providence.

CHARLES ALLEN, of North Kingstown;

Let there be a grand Whig rally at the Town Hall this evening, at 7 o'clock, on which occasion our friends will be addressed by Christopher Robinson, Esq., of Cumberland, and the Hon. George G. King, of this town.—The Whigs of Newport have often listened to Mr. Robinson's political addresses, and they know him to be an able, interesting and effective speaker.—Our friends will also be glad to hear Mr. King; whenever he speaks, it is always to the purpose, and he is listened to with great pleasure.—The election is close at hand, and we cannot have many more meetings before the freemen will be called upon to discharge the most important duty incumbent upon man under a Republican form of government.

We are not called upon in this election to manifest our preference for men, because all know that whichever candidate is elected, will carry out, as far as he is able, into practical operation, the principles of his party,—and the principles of the two great parties are as dissimilar as light from darkness, and as wide apart, in their results, as the Poles. We contend that the prosperity of this country, the permanence of its institutions, and the success of the original design of the framers of the government, depend upon the continuance of a Whig administration. The policy of the Whigs is a true protecting and improving one; it tends to the advancement of the interests of Americans, individually and as a nation,—we are the cause of our opponents is directly the reverse. Let us have a Whig administration—a Whig Congress for four years, and our opponents would be lost forever, for the country would be in perdition that all true Americans would become Whigs.

A letter received in town yesterday by Messrs. Peckham & Bell from Capt. Mclvane, of the U. S. Consulate, at Havre:

The 2d instant the Boston Brewster, of Free State bark, maintained by Capt. Mclvane, and his son, went with the anchor and boat gone; she was abandoned; the bark so heavy, I could not get on board. I went close to her, and I saw her a number of times but could not see a man on board.—Shoal Bay lat. 41° N. long. 10° W., apparently half full of water."

Capt. McIlvane speaks of a violent hurricane which occurred on the 30th of September; and the bark was probably disabled during that blow.

The story which has been in circulation for some days that Mr. Webster was dangerously ill, is not true; he has been a little indisposed, but is quite well now, so that he rode out on Monday, and attends regularly to his official business.

The U. S. District Court, Judge Pitman presiding, held its October Term in this town yesterday; there was no business on the Docket ready for trial, and the Court immediately adjourned.

The Health of Mr. Webster.—We learn that the health of Mr. Webster is somewhat improved from what it was last week. By the advice of his physician he has denied himself to all visitors, reserving his strength to attend to the public business, of which he is advised daily. Though he has suffered much for the last fortnight by a general debility, yet we learn if he is left free from all unnecessary labor, he will soon be restored to his wonted activity. At any rate the office which he so worthily fills as yet suffers no detriment by his continuing at his farm at Marshfield.

Let all those who would otherwise feel justified, in calling upon our Secretary of State, keep away, and the country may have for some time yet the benefit of his talents and strength.—Boston Transcript.

"Is a man," asked a prisoner of a magistrate, "a right to commit a nuisance?"

"No air, not even the Mayor." Then, sir, I claim my liberty. I was arrested as a nuisance, and as no one has a right to commit me, I move for a non-suit."

Democratic Meeting at Newport.—On Thursday evening last, a Democratic meeting was held in Newport, which was addressed by General L. Col. James L. Mason, of the U. S. Engineers. A letter in the Post giving an account of that meeting, etc., of Colonel Mason's speech:

"He examined, very critically, the whole of Gen. Scott's military career, and showed that while, in the war of 1812, he was only a subordinate officer, at the great battle of Buena Vista, the sortie of Fort Erie, who commanded in all, the other on which Scott based his reputation, he was absent. He pointed out, in detail, the fact not unfrequently adduced to that effect, after the battle of Cerro Gordo, going direct, to the city of Mexico, more than 3000 men subsequently sacrificed, would have been saved."

We hope for the honor of this gentleman, he has not been correctly reported. If the report is correct, it must have been owing to have heard the career of Gen. Scott in the war of 1812, criticised by one who graduated from West Point in 1836. It must have been refreshing to have listened to this officer's attempts to belittle the old hero, whom the midnight burglar would not rob of the medal voted him by a resolution of Congress, for his service in the war of 1812. . . . does Col. Mason seek to lay such stress upon the absence of Gen. Scott from Fort Erie? He knows or ought to know that Scott was suffering from a severe wound at the date of that battle, and was far from the scene of action. No one ever attempted to impugn any blame to Col. Mason, for not participating in the storming of Chapultepec, and the taking of the gate of San Cosme, and yet his absence from those actions is as justly deserving of comment as is Gen. Scott's absence from Fort Erie. Col. Mason was severely wounded at the sanguinary battles of Molino del Rey, and utterly unable to take part. His reputation cannot suffer from that absence, and we believe no officer can be found who would reproach him with it. By his conduct at Vera Cruz, at Cerro Gordo, at San Antonio, at Churubusco, and at Molino del Rey, he aided in securing the entrance of the American Army into the city of Mexico. This is freely awarded to him on all hands. Without those battles the city could not have been entered, and so, but for the vigorous contest at Queenstown and the victories at Chippenham and Lundy's Lane, the battle of Fort Erie would never have been fought, and any man who will assert that the spirit infused into the troops and the confidence given to them by Gen. Scott's intrepid and energy at Chippewa and Lundy's Lane, did not produce its effect at Fort Erie, will be his ignorance of the constitution of the human mind."

We learn from Col. Mason, informed the Democracy of Newport how the campaign of Mexico might have been more successfully conducted. Col. Mason teaching Gen. Scott the same, was reported to have said that Gen. Scott by pushing on after the battle of Cerro Gordo would have saved 3000 men subsequently sacrificed. Major Stevens, who was also an orator at this meeting, has published his opinion about this matter, and told the country that Gen. Scott could not, with honor and obedience to the instructions of Secretary Marcy, push on with the volunteers. But where were the 3000 men sacrificed of whom Col. Mason speaks? But 3000 men were killed in the battles of the valley of Mexico, and 40 more died of their wounds soon after. 2474 were wounded there, but among these were Col. Mason and Major Stevens, who don't seem to consider themselves sacrificed entirely." How many more of those who were thus sacrificed by Gen. Scott's delay, still live, we have no means of figuring, but we can point out very many in our own observation. The whole number of wounded in the whole of Mexico was 3743, and the probability is, the larger portion survived the war as the roll of Invalid Pensioners has been increased since Oct. 1816, by the number of 3292.

But we have no desire to find fault with Col. Mason for seeking to impair the fame of Gen. Scott. If he liketh the business of detection, we trust he will take his fill." It is well known that he was in the staff of Gen. Worth in Mexico, and shared in the hostility of that officer towards the gallant chief.

"Tantem animis colestibusimus! Dwells such resentment in heavenly minds."—Providence Times.

Romanus Emerson, Esq., one of the oldest citizens of South Boston, and for many years one of the leading infidels of this city died on Saturday last, aged 70 years. In early life he was a firm Baptist, and has three brothers who are clergymen. The Traveller learns, that it was his dying request that no clergyman should officiate at his funeral, but that an address should be read, which was written by himself, explaining his religious principles. His request was not complied with. Mr. Emerson has been esteemed as an upright and valuable citizen by all who knew him.—Boston Herald.

GENERAL SCOTT'S SPEECH.—The Buena Vista, an independent paper, the editor of which is a personal friend of General Pierce, contains the following just now upon the recent speeches of General Scott:

"We have looked through these brief addresses in vain to find the defects which some of our contemporaries seem to detect in them. They are such plain, off-hand, unstudied remarks as any man might make whose life had been spent in literary studies than in the field of battle. And, like we are told of those who know General Scott intimately that he is a man of extreme attainments in reading, and that few of our public men are so generally well informed, or have at their command so large a fund of facts of every day utility. The gift of the gab, to use a vulgar but not inexpensive phrase, is no criterion of a man's qualifications as an executive officer even in a civil capacity. Some of the greatest statesmen have been men of stamp in their speeches that any gibberish could appear to more advantage, and pass for the better man among the unreflecting. We do not believe that the assailants of General Scott can harm him by criticising his speeches; for ninety-nine men out of one hundred will say—I could have done no better myself; probably not so well."

Postage Stamp Envelopes.—We understand that the Postmaster General has accepted the proposal of Mr. George F. Nesbit, of New York, to furnish the Department with the Postage Stamp Envelopes authorized by the act of the last session of Congress. These convenient little wrappers will consist of three sizes—Note, Letter, and Official. The denominations will be three, six and twenty-four cents, the latter intended for foreign correspondence. They will be self-sealing and bear a stamp similar in style to the English stamped envelope, and are expected to be in all respects equal thereto.

NEWELL'S PATENT SAFETY LAMP, AND LAMP FEEDER. Warranted to prevent all Accidents from the use of Burning Fluid and all other Explosive Compounds used for the production of light; also AROMATIC FLUID. Which burns with a clear light, is free from grease or smoke, and is manufactured without Camphene or Spirits of Turpentine. For sale wholesale and retail, by [106] B. H. TISDALE & SON, Agent for Newport and vicinity. The following certificate is a sufficient guarantee of the entire safety and efficiency of the Safety Lamp and Feeder.

CERTIFICATE. We have had an opportunity to test the Patent Safety Lamp and Feeder of Mr. John Newell of this city; in regard to the measure of protection which their construction affords. In the trials to which we subjected them we endeavored with cut effect, to produce explosions of the vapor of the fluid mixed with air, and to burst them by the pressure of the vapor alone. The principle adopted by Mr. Newell is that of the well known Davy Lamp. He has so combined the parts that we are confident that all risk of explosive action is removed.

IRA FRENCH.

NEW & IMPROVED CHIMNEY PIECES. Manufactured of Spots by the PEARY MARBLE COMPANY. THESE CHIMNEY PIECES AND OTHER SLABS are new and beautiful articles, superior in appearance and finish to anything in the market; can be had of any dimensions, and are sold at low prices. They are very highly polished, retain their beauty much longer than the common marble, are not injured by, or defaced by coal, gas, smoke or acids. Since their introduction, a large number have been sold and enjoyed general satisfaction. This labor required to keep them in good order is very slight, as they do not become discolored like other kinds of marble. The stone used in their manufacture is imported from England, which is very extensively used for architectural purposes, having been known to last for centuries. It does not partake of the brittleness of common marble being tough, strong and durable, and thus perfectly well adapted for chimney pieces, &c. This stone by a peasant princess, a beautifully enamelled, is imitation of the finest Egyptian, the emerald being so finely incorporated with the stone that it becomes permanent.

The Unequalled polish and appearance of these Chimney Pieces and the confidence with which they have thus far been used, give the greatest evidence that the British Marble, by its many advantages, will in no distant day supersede the Egyptian.

MORTIMORE'S RHEUMATIC COMPOUND and Blood Purifier, which is a vegetable spirit, an internal remedy prepared for this one disease alone.
